FOREWORD

In today's world of growing economic interdependence, the role of the international marketplace is becoming increasingly important to American business. The world market represents more than just a vast field of opportunity for many manufacturers and service firms. With increased foreign competition, exporting may actually in many cases be necessary for long-term success of a business.

At present, the United States is experiencing an unfavorable balance of international trade. As part of the U.S. strategy to correct this situation, the U.S. Small Business Administration has targeted export expansion as a high priority. The role which small business can play in the world market is significant. There are thousands of American firms with the potential to export which do not yet do so, and many others which export on a small scale but which have not yet reached their full export potential. However, breaking into the export market is often perceived as too complex and difficult, and potential is left untapped.

There are numerous programs at the state and local level which provide assistance to the potential or beginning exporter. Many service firms are also in the business of export assistance, such as banks, export management companies, consultants and international freight forwarders.

The U.S. Small Business Administration is pleased to be able to present this international Trade State and Local Resource Directory for Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Used in conjunction with the Exporter's Guide to Federal Resources for Small Business, this directory should provide a small business with the ability to locate and exploit the various forms of export assistance available. With such assistance, the process of entering the export market or expanding existing exports can be made considerably easier.

Small businesses are also encouraged to contact the nearest offices of the U.S. Small Business Administration and the U.S. Department of Commerce, International Trade Administration. Both agencies provide numerous programs and services for export assistance, and their local offices are listed at the beginning of this directory.

The U.S. Small Business Administration is dedicated to assisting small businesses enter the international marketplace. Exporting means increased business and profits for small business, more jobs for all Americans, and reduction of our national trade deficit. Together, we can help improve America's balance of trade and economic vitality.

PREFACE

Every effort has been made to make this directory as accurate, complete and up-to-date as possible. However, the U.S. Small Business Administration accepts no responsibility for any inaccuracies or omissions, which are of a purely inadvertent nature. Any changes or omissions should be brought to the attention of the Small Business Administration (SBA), which will seek to include them in future editions of this directory. Changes or additions can be made using the form at the end of this directory and should be addressed to:

U.S. SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION AND U.S. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE LOCAL OFFICES

The local offices of the SBA and the U.S. Department of Commerce are two of the first places a current or potential small business exporter should look for assistance. Both agencies offer a variety of services.

Services provided by the SBA include educational seminars and conferences on exporting, financial assistance, and initial market studies through the Export Information System. The Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) provides one-on-one counseling by retired executives with years of business and international experience. Counseling and other export assistance is also available through SBA's cooperative effort with the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) and Small Business Institute (SBI) networks, located at numerous colleges and universities. In cooperation with the Federal Bar Association, the SBA can also provide initial legal consulting on exporting.

The U.S. Department of Commerce offers a wide range of valuable information for exporters. Through its many overseas offices, the Department of Commerce can provide in-depth information on overseas markets, uncover trade leads, and develop overseas contacts. It can research the export potential of a particular product. The Department of Commerce conducts overseas trade missions and catalog exhibitions, and assists firms participating in overseas trade shows. It also conducts export seminars and workshops, often in cooperation with the SBA.

Puerto Rico Products Association
G.P.O. Box 3631
San Juan, PR 00936
(809) 753-8484

The Association provides management counseling to exporters.

FOREIGN CONSULATES

Generally, the consulates that are the most helpful are those with commercial liaison offices. They provide general information about doing business in their countries and offer assistance to U.S. firms seeking names of overseas sources of supply. They may also be able to provide background reports on firms located in their home countries and assistance in translation, particularly for those U.S. firms interested in purchasing products from their home country.

The level of representation is indicated in parentheses after the name of the country: (C) indicates a consulate, (CG) a consulate general, and (H) indicates honorary status. For those countries which do not maintain a consulate in Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands (or which have only an honorary consul), all Washington embassies are listed under a separate heading in the next section. An embassy can direct an inquiry to the out-of-state consulate or the in-state honorary consulate with responsibility for Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands.

EXPORT MANAGEMENT COMPANIES/ EXPORT TRADING COMPANIES

An export management company (EMC) serves as an export sales intermediary and representative for one or more manufacturers. An EMC usually assumes responsibility for locating foreign buyers, promoting the product and making export sales, documentation, and shipping the product overseas. Some EMCs may also arrange export financing. EMCs often specialize by product line, foreign market, or both. Where available, this information is provided below.

An export trading company (ETC) offers services similar to an EMC. ETCs often purchase a product outright, taking title and then reselling the product overseas.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE CONSULTANTS

International trade consultants provide numerous services to assist a manufacturer with exporting. Trade consultants can provide information on domestic and foreign trade regulations, and can assess overseas commercial and political risk. They may also provide information on foreign markets, conduct feasibility studies, help establish overseas contacts, and assist in product promotion. Large law firms and specialized marketing firms may also provide international trade consulting services. International accounting firms, besides providing services for international accounting and taxation, may offer other international consulting services as well.

Trade consultants often specialize by product category and/or geographical area. Where available, this information is provided below.

CUSTOM HOUSE BROKERS AND INTERNATIONAL FREIGHT FORWARDERS

Custom house brokers clear goods through customs. They are licensed and regulated by the Treasury Department. Custom house brokers deal with imports into the United States.

An international freight forwarder performs a variety of services to assist the export of goods. A freight forwarder may handle export packing, obtain insurance for shipments or write it themselves, prepare collection and shipping documents, book cargo space, oversee loading of the goods, and see the goods through customs at their destination. A freight forwarder can also provide information and advice on U.S. export regulations, shipping methods, and foreign import regulations.

Many international freight forwarders also serve as custom house brokers. Where this information has been provided, it is indicated below (*).

EXPORT-RELATED INSURANCE

Insurance agencies can offer a variety of types of insurance for exporters. Generally, exporters require two different types of coverage: marine insurance and export credit insurance. The firms listed below may offer one or both types of coverage.

Marine insurance is used to insure export shipments against physical damage or loss during transit from seller to buyer.

Export credit insurance is used to insure export receivables against the failure of a foreign buyer to pay for the goods.

Federal Insurance Co.
G.P.O. Box 4191

TRANSLATION SERVICES

At times it is necessary for an exporter to translate documents either from or into a foreign language. Translations may be required for such things as orders and contracts, other documents, product literature, brochures and manuals. The firms and/or individuals listed below provide professional translation services. While some may specialize in one or a few languages, many translation firms offer services for numerous languages.
